Fire Restrictions Lifted on the Eldorado National Forest, but Caldor Fire Closure Remains in effect

PLACERVILLE, CA - As a result of the precipitation received, the Eldorado National Forest has lifted the restrictions on campfires that were put in place earlier this year due to dry conditions. Visitors in possession of a valid California campfire permit may once again have campfires according to the terms of their permit and other forest regulations. The Caldor Fire Closure remains in effect to ensure public safety due to ongoing hazards within the Caldor Fire area.

Campfire permits are required for all types of campfires in the Eldorado National Forest, including gas stoves, and are available online at www.preventwildfiresca.org.

For more information about the Eldorado National Forest, visit the forest website at www.fs.usda.gov/eldorado. Visitor information specialists are also available by phone from 8:00 AM – 4:30 PM, Monday through Friday:
